A game for nonsense word fluency practice.

Collect as much candy as you can before you get a toothache!

Created by: Tanya Holk—http://firstgradeisfantabulous.blogspot.com

Students will enjoy practicing nonsense word fluency with this fun and engaging literacy station activity.
“I Want Candy!”
A nonsense word fluency game
Collect as much candy as you can before you get a toothache!

Teacher Directions:
Print “I Want Candy!” on cardstock, cut out, and laminate (if you choose).
Place the cards in a container.

Game Directions:
“I Want Candy” can be played with 2 players up to a whole class.
Begin the game by shuffling up the cards, making sure that “toothache” cards are equally distributed among the other cards. Students take turns drawing a card from the container. (I place the cards in a small plastic container; I find it’s easier for students to pass a container instead of trying to keep the cards in a pile to draw from. {Just my personal preference.} I teach my students to “look to the ceiling” before they draw out a card, this prevents some of the peeking!) If the student reads the word on the card correctly, they get to keep the card, and pass the container on to the next player. If the student is unable to read the card, they should place the card back into the container and then pass to the next player. If a student draws out a “toothache” card, they must place ALL of their cards back into the container and pass it on to the next player. Play continues until only “toothache” cards remain in the container. The winner is the student with the most cards at the end of the game.

Created by: Tanya Holk
http://firstgradeisfantabulous.blogspot.com
buf
ab
cad
ces
dom
fim
cip
dop fap

con
dux
dac
fud  gaj  deg
fet  gub  fif
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>hac</th>
<th>jum</th>
<th>hus</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ga j</td>
<td>hap</td>
<td>jub</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
giz gol mim
siz
jez
kub gol
jof
kip
hin
cuf
dup
lav
mem
nob
lig
mas
nej
Thank you for your purchase. Please visit my blog for many more activities.
http://firstgradeisfantabulous.blogspot.com